Instructions for Form FTB 3800

Tax Computation for Children Under Age 14 with Investment Income

General Information

For taxable years beginning on or after January 1, 2002, California law was changed to clarify the method used to calculate loss carryovers, deferred deductions, and deferred income for nonresident and part-year resident taxpayers. This changed the tax computation to recognize those items, and established a new method to determine percentages for computing tax for all nonresidents and part-year residents. The nonresident tax forms (Long and Short Form 540NR) have been revised to more clearly show that nonresidents pay tax to California only on their California taxable income. For further information, get FTB Pub. 1100, Taxation of Nonresidents and Individuals Who Change Residency.

Caution: California does not conform to the provision of the Federal Tax Increase Prevention and Reconciliation Act which increased the age of children from under 14 to under 18 for elections made by parents reporting their child's interest and dividends. It also increased the maximum age for a child required to report investment income on their own return and is subject to the parents tax rate. If you are reporting interest or dividend income and are over age 13, you may not use this form.

Purpose

Any child, under age 14 at the end of 2006 with investment income over $1,700 is taxed at the parent's rate if the parent's rate is higher than the child's rate. If the child's investment income is more than $1,700, use this form to figure the child's tax. Include only income taxed by California on this form. Also include investment income that was not taxed on the child's federal tax return but is taxable under California law.

Note: A child born on January 1, 1993, is considered to be age 14 at the end of 2006.

If the child uses form FTB 3800, file Form 540, California Resident Income Tax Return or Long Form 540NR, California Nonresident or Part-Year Resident Income Tax Return.

Do not use form FTB 3800 if:

- Neither parent was living on December 31, 2006; OR
- The child's investment income was less than $1,700.

If the child does not file form FTB 3800, figure the tax in the normal manner on the child's Form 540, Form 540A, Long or Short Form 540NR.

Note: Parents of children under age 14 at the end of 2006, may elect to include the child's investment income on the parent's tax return. To make this election, the child must have had income only from interest and dividends. The election is not available if estimated tax payments were made in the child's name. Get form FTB 3803, Parents' Election to Report Child's Interest and Dividends, for more information. If parents make this election, the child will not have to file a California tax return or form FTB 3800.

Caution: If you elect to report your child's income on your federal income tax return, but not on your California income tax return, be sure to make an adjustment on your Schedule CA (540 or 540NR), line 21f.
